Whispers from The Brighter World

A Third Revelation

Wednesday, July 31, 2002 - 10:00 a.m.

There are some nice pages in this series of messages that will delight simple and loving hearts. They will find therein keys that will help them to surrender further. It is only when this level of simplicity is reached that they will be able to assess how long the path is that they have covered. This path requires clearing; it widens and becomes increasingly receptive to true beauty, that of the soul. Everything hangs on this holy place; admirable signs can be visible, but this richness remains hidden from the eyes of men. Could they recognise it as is proper? The criteria to assess it are beyond this world. In our inserting some chosen pearls into these writings, we intend to offer them to those who will actually want to collect them. If only one of these messages manages to touch the heart of the reader, our goal will have been achieved – to make men understand that union with the Divine requires spareness, simplicity of approach and utmost surrender.

"Great theories can feed the intellect, but another journey takes place parallel to this search. The direction being set, together with the active support of a highly enlightened being, one can make it possible to advance in the right direction. The heart, inspired, can therefore find its own way which is unique, since in the final analysis, it leads to the divine source."
