Monday, April 19, 1999 - 8:00 a.m.

Mahasamadhi of Babuji

The Medium: "Can you cure me, Babuji?"

You can benefit from my heart; is that not enough? Be patient and try to listen better; we give you information about your health, you don't pay attention to this.

"The day I rejoined my beloved Master was a very beautiful day. My soul was overflowing with joy. I had been looking forward to that since so long time. I did all that my Master expected of me, with love. Our meeting again caused an outburst of joy in the beyond; the wait was so long. The sadness of my brothers and sisters on the Earth was touching."

The Medium: "They love you so much, Babuji!"

"This love, I return it to you all hundredfold. A day will come when you will be able to witness its strength. I am completely satisfied with my son. I could not have a better successor and you a better Master. He is tireless; his capacity for work is amazing. The Mission will continue after him. Another Master will succeed him, whom we are preparing. His work will be carried out under a different framework. The Mission changes with time; it keeps expanding and restructuring.

"It needs men of different nature. Our personalities are suited to the time wherein we live. Our successors will have an enormous work to achieve. In the future, the Mission will expand across the world; Sahaj Marg will benefit the whole of humanity. I am happy, in the wake of my revered Master, to have contributed to laying the foundations of such an edifice."

Babuji