mile at life, my dear daughter. Focus on the extension of this incarnation and pursue its development without wasting time. There is always some way of doing better. While advancing in this search, happy prospects are unfolding for you. Let your heart be in jubilation; does it not have good reasons to be delighted? It is opening more and more to love, which guides it, answering our wishes. Being joyfully receptive to the divine ways in utmost surrender fosters progress. The road thus becomes luminous, all shady areas having disappeared. Resume enjoying life and fighting, for the love of us."
