There is always much to say; the issue is: do you want to continue reading us? We already said it: keep these messages to yourself, if you think there is fatigue in people around you. My dear child, our 'heart to heart' will continue, whether it results in writings or not, the purpose being to help the readers effectively understand the purpose of their process on this Earth. Many are in the darkness of ignorance and do not have the comfort of faith. Until the end of time, we will have to strive to help them; there are no other means."
