Sunday, September 29, 2002 - 8:30 a.m.

Life is a long training process; each day offers opportunities for spiritual progress. This search is fascinating; it requires constantly renewed efforts. Only great eagerness to succeed crowns this long work with success. The great mystics devoted their life to it, the goal to be reached being their primary motivation. To engage in a way is a choice that often results from a pressing call of the soul that is eager to manifest itself and to continue on its evolution."

Babuji