Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Sunday, October 13, 2002 - 8:00 a.m.

Come and quench your thirst with the divine nectar, my daughter. After this long period of turbulence, your heart needs to calm down and to be intoxicated with it. Let it revel in grace; your heart is longing to be strengthened by it. Each accepted test helps it to get through a step. See how joyful it is in this moment. It feels free, detached from the usual constraints that are the lot of humans. This reward is even more beautiful when the body is tired of suffering so much. For your heart, nothing else exists; it feels broken, but filled with joy, as if it were in front of its God. We know that this kind of speech, which accompanies grace, is also a reward to it. It is sensitive to this formulation. It is a poet; it loves the music of the words, their vibration that carries it, and enthuses it in the love which it distils. Revel in this sovereign calmness; the reward will come afterwards and will manifest itself in the service that you offer to us, haloed with the love it is capable of. This day you have spent relaxing has made this special heart-to-heart easier; we could not let it pass without marking it with a special joy. Remain well conscious of this blessing, my child; tomorrow will be another day."
