Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Saturday, October 26, 2002 - 10:00 a.m.

You know that your requests are heard and some of them are recorded; therefore don't be surprised by the answer given to you. This choice is always made with a view to meeting the divine intentions. We cannot answer all the wishes of humans; some of them are so childish and devoid of any common sense. What is good for the evolution of the being is satisfactorily attended to. Man does not have innate wisdom; he is making progress towards this aim that will enable him to be confronted with the highest authorities when he has reached a certain level of self-control. The pursuit of perfection takes long, and the path is fraught with all possible obstacles, which partake of the initiatory process of the seeker. The victory is all the more beautiful, since it is the fruit of a long work on oneself, which encompasses all the aspects of the incarnate individual. He must go through the obstacles, one by one, if possible, while praising God for being granted such a process. Arriving at this stage is an indication that the heart is subjected to the divine will, and that a long way has already been travelled. Each victory costs much, but it allows man to acquire such a jewel! It is not easy for man to understand such subtleties, not having a comprehensive view of the edifice he is building. His discouragement can be understandable; all have experienced that during their long process that brought them towards the greatest wisdom. They never remain insensitive and deaf to a sincere and justified call."
