Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Saturday, November 9, 2002 - 10:00 a.m.

Man's secret nature is a world yet to be discovered. Humanity, in its current stage of evolution, is too limited to go further in this exploration. It must make do with an approximation, with theories that will become obsolete in future times. That is the way it goes; it also must go its own way and advance in knowledge. Each individual takes part in it; he is an element of this immense body, which advances in a precise set-up, according to the divine intentions. Nothing in this field can be forced; it is necessary to leave time to the collective consciousness to open up to reality. The plans for an overall evolution are designed in minute detail. People scouting around are in place to help their fellow men in the discovery of a truth which many of them reject. These people are not necessarily welcomed; they are disturbing in terms of their thinking habits and power built on noble and generous ideas that are likely to help humanity to emerge from its cesspool. The precursors have no easy task, but the principles they reveal to the world are being spread, with the support of enlightened people who understand the need to act to help their brothers. It is all being set up slowly, according to the laws of this world that is advancing inexorably. Time does not count here below; only the divine will must prevail and prepare the new era, which will be that of enlightenment."
