Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Friday, December 13, 2002 - 10:00 a.m.

My daughter, do your level best in all circumstances, and offer your weaknesses so that they are converted into strength. We want, with our remarks, to encourage our brothers and sisters to give their best. To put oneself into a spiritual process requires a change of life at the beginning. It is then advisable to put things in perspective and to be rather lucid, to modify what must be modified in one's behaviour and harmonise the whole consequently. Gradually, the best is revealed and prevails in the way of acting. A well understood sadhana lets the inner beauty emerge.

"It is time for the divine being to manage to express itself. Our way meets this inmost need of the soul; we do everything possible to help our aspirants in this direction. The faithful aspirants, who have been following us for rather a long time, can note how much they have changed, even if they have only a partial view of the work being carried out in them. By devoting a little time each day to pursuing their spiritual ideal, they advance most surely towards the goal. We will never repeat enough how much perseverance is necessary. Often, choices are required: Which real need will I follow up? Which one will emerge as being essential to my elevation? With time, there will be no more hesitation, only the thirst for the Divine will inspire the seeker and make him make good decisions. Our blessings are with all, none of them is alone in their process."
