Whispers from The Brighter World
A Third Revelation

Saturday, December 28, 2002 - 10:00 a.m.

Your soul has sailed so much and suffered during its many incarnations on the Earth; its wounds strengthened it. It has grown and progressed towards this current culmination. It has a long way left to go, but ignorance is no longer its lot. It knows why it is fighting its battle, and its Master is there to guide it. It is peaceful and serene, knowing its destiny. Light, which it foresees, will henceforth give it courage to advance, no matter what happens.

"The mystical search proves to be long and painful; nothing is obtained without efforts and sufferings. These two concepts must be overcome to leave room for a profound and inalterable joy. It is all mere adventures, unimportant. What matters is only the final result, the prospect of which makes one stronger in the battle of life on Earth. It all must be overcome, sublimated and accepted with gratitude as divinely granted tests. Where man sees punishment, grace is concealed therein; accepting it as such is a choice reserved for him. For man, this is not easy to understand. How can sufferings and tests of all sorts be well received and experienced? A healthy dose of saintliness is already necessary to arrive at that understanding. Each stage in this area opens a door onto infinity. When the soul comes out of each one with increased stature, it is moved by its new condition; it feels stronger, ennobled with a title not recognised here below. Imperceptibly, it comes closer to its God, thus going towards eternal bliss."
