Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fourth Revelation

Sunday, January 19, 2003 - 10:00 a.m.

Rejoice, my dear daughter, you are the first to benefit from the impact that these messages can have on spiritual development. As was said earlier, we are satisfied with the results obtained with your small group; it has been benefiting from it for a long time already and it constitutes a very favourable test.

"We have come a long way together, trying to enlighten you on your role on this Earth. By focusing on the main thing, and not overburdening your mind unnecessarily, you undertake to do it to a rather large extent.

"Clean up your mind as best you can. The more you advance, the more you will come to it naturally: knowing to put things in perspective and to leave aside all that which overburdens your mind unnecessarily. In your societies, where it is good to shine to be recognised, men take pleasure in deceptive appearances, trying to put forward some of their own facets in which the only reference is the intellect.

"So many of these beings – in great demand for this veneer which they show to people around them – are bored to death in their inner desert. True greatness, the only beauty that outlives this life, lies elsewhere. You know it and you neglect all this twaddle, which makes you consider appearances as appalling. While advancing on the path to wisdom, you can see where the truth lies, and you look away from this useless and illusory publicity being given to what shines from all these surface manifestations of the ego."
