Saturday, March 22, 2003 - 10:00 AM

Ignorance on Earth is extreme; it is maintained by beings who think they are highly intelligent. It is not easy to get ideas accepted, to admit facts that cannot be verified. Minds are not ready. They would need to be put in a state of shock in order to realize how much they are ignorant of the reality that surrounds them. They delude themselves and want to see and hear nothing that is not allowed in their culture.

"We cannot rush things and yet, that is God's will. Knowledge will end up imposing itself on the ground, even if it must go through very tough facts and events for its inhabitants.

"Our candidates are preparing spiritually for new times when all values will have to be reconsidered. An unprecedented change is brewing; it will affect the entire humanity and its entire species. For the world to survive, its history is to be re-examined completely. Men will therefore need some degree of adaptability and much courage, to set out again on new bases. They will need imagination and many qualities suited to their new way of life.

"All this is being prepared, but it is not for tomorrow. Live each day as a blessing and be thankful for being able to go through many and varied experiences, even if they all are not to your liking."

Babuji