My dear daughter,

"Your heart is entirely turned to your Master and he can definitively count on your unreserved love for him, which necessarily delights my heart. My thought is henceforth flowing from one to the other very easily. Love is a unique channel that defies barriers, whatever their nature.

"Advanced technology, which prevails in this world, is far from competing with our means of communication, which regarding our contacts could be still refined. In this domain, there are very many possibilities, which are far from being exploited. The power of the spirit, at some levels, is boundless and it would astound human beings whose vision is very limited. We cannot for the time being unveil the truth that is concealed behind an opaque curtain. We are using means that only open spirits can admit. We cannot now go further. We must adapt to this time and to its possibilities of comprehension, and be satisfied with what is achieved in our Sahaj Marg Mission, whose work has started to bear very beautiful fruits. It takes time for a system like this one to be acknowledged, and especially for its overall results to be seen.

"My son can be as pleased as we are, who have a very broad view of the egregore[4] which is being built. Souls attract each other and are assembled to form a pure gem which is worth surrounding in the jewel case it deserves."
