Get rid of your worries, the wheel of life continues to turn and it is stopped by no detail. In this movement, nothing that occurs in this world can influence it. It continues its action imperturbably. Open your spirit to the light, the beauty, to that which you know and that which remains hidden in the hearts, but which takes part in the divine plan.

"This one is important above all, and it is to be discovered, and to be maintained with love and recognition like a priceless jewel. Seek in yourself what can foster its expansion. Open your heart always more to love; only it can work wonders.

"Man's heart needs words to be repeated. Some of them can touch him particularly and open a secret door hitherto closed with obstinacy, hence the use of this formula in our messages. When they are made available to some of our brothers, some of them will be able to play this role and to help them in their search. These writings will be only one element being added to our method in the same capacity as all the literature that we propose to them. No aspect is to be underestimated in this matter, whose introduction is signed by the chorus of his united Masters. Their spirit is as One; it manifests itself by blowing where it wants and when it finds it necessary.

"We employ means that are likely to help our brothers, many of whom are making good progress. Is there anything greater and nobler than a soul which is being refined and which is winning its freedom? We bless all our brothers and each one in particular."
