Sunday, May 11, 2003 - 10:00 AM

Saying to God and to the Masters how much you love them, that is the most beautiful thing! This creed always delights our hearts. We keep on stimulating love. We channel it to echo it ad infinitum, as we are invested with this unique mission to make people love the supreme God, Master of the universe, through us. May our way develop this kind of love in the hearts!

"The exercises that we recommend also aim at this goal: to connect the creature to the Creator by a sublime vibration, uplifting humanity. Love boundlessly. That is your vocation. Carry the hearts in your wake so that they become light, happy, and fervent in love and service, helping their brothers in their long way. For some of them, the way is appallingly long and tough, when they do not have a Master to light it up and facilitate their attainment of the goal.

"Our way is not the only one, but we can extol the advantages of its effectiveness unreservedly, as we know its richness.

"Today is a special day. You are not alone, as you believe. Are we not here to surround you by this vibration that you like! It warms your heart and its effect will continue in meditation. It will maintain in you this feeling of joy and peace, while thinking of those whom you regard as your children and who make you forget your loneliness.

"To us, you are a mother. You suffer for those who suffer. You are delighted when they are happy and you call for all the graces capable of clearing their way to eternal peace."

Babuji