Your Master is in the first place in my heart, which though is however large enough to also accommodate other loving hearts. My love story with him is long lasting and special; he followed in my footsteps in more than one way. His constancy in love and in service touched me and aroused my admiration. His uprightness and unfailing perseverance necessarily drew my attention. That was the starting point of his career by my side, which at times was not smooth.

"His untameable nature nevertheless moulded itself to my requirements. He deserved the best, having come to Earth with a precise aim and required qualities for his high position.

"Our rapidly growing Mission had to be led by a strong man, having organizational skills and capable of handling human conflicts, which can happen, even within a spiritual movement like ours. His task is not easy. He cannot be everywhere at the same time; vigilance is also required in delegating and learning how to trust others. He displayed the skills required to manage the disputes associated with a difficult succession.

"For all these reasons and many more, he is the son and the successor we all were expecting. Contrary to what our brothers and sisters believe, his task is heavy and his pathway is not a carpet of flowers, at least on this Earth. We surround him with our love and we look after him who is so dear to our hearts. It is good for us to constantly repeat the above to him through this means."
