Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fourth Revelation

Tuesday, June 24, 2003 - 10:00 a.m.

Human beings are difficult to please: we know it only too well. Do not lose heart, please! We try to diversify these messages, with a view to precisely touch sensitive points in our readers. Who can deliver a work likely to satisfy everyone? We know the human race, we know that it is fickle and demanding, but it has its good sides; not everything is bad, one should admit! Therefore, my dear daughter, regain courage and continue to catch us for a while.

"Amongst these many writings, there could well be a few likely to catch the attention of those who will read them. With time, the eyes of our brothers will open. They will extricate themselves from all the influences they were subjected to during their life and they will be able to take stock [of their life], by striving to think in a more correct way. Acquiring wisdom is very difficult, and would be a feat in this world.

"This reading will hopefully help them. It should not be such a demanding thing to devote a little time and patience to reading one of these messages every day.

"When life in this world becomes too heavy – which it is likely to become for good – taking refuge in values of this kind will help a lot. Our remarks are admittedly simple, but that is the very aspect which will make them touch the hearts of the readers, when they really need it."
