Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, May 4, 1999 – 10:00 a.m.

The Medium: Babuji, I have the impression of being in a state of vacuity, this great emptiness inside me, it is indescribable as a feeling!

It is good, you are progressing; enjoy these fleeting moments when you have the feeling that nothing can touch you. In these moments when you feel so light, our union is perfect.

The Medium: I feel like a feather in the air, like a little cloud floating in the sky!

Pay attention to everything that is going on inside you. Don't be afraid to express it; it will be useful to others one day.

The Medium: To be both scribe and guinea pig, what a blessing, Babuji!

You have not finished surprising yourself, I told you yesterday. Observe very carefully everything you feel. Changing one's skin produces noticeable manifestations.

Note down your impressions outside of our contacts, you will see more clearly.

The Medium: The chrysalis becoming a butterfly must feel this!

In its own way, probably, what can we know about it? You are yourself limited in your perception of things, but you can taste this kind of inner freedom that makes you forget your body.

For the moment, reserve these messages for the four or five people you trust (C will have a role to play in these writings in the future).
