Sunday, August 3, 2003 - 10:00 AM

Your heart is insatiable, let it be watered with the divine source and immerse yourself in bliss. You need these sublime moments; they feed your life by helping it continue and go where it must. All is calm around you today, your heart can quietly devote itself to devotion altogether. My child, enjoy these moments where your heart is surrendered to ours, with a child's confidence. It is longing for its Master. It is waiting for him and would like to exist only in Him. That is the only wish of a fervent disciple: to blend in with the divine power, which it has a presentiment of. A Master has power, he advisedly uses it, and he is guided and protected consequently. His action is vast. He operates on several levels of consciousness at the same time. On Earth, he is a representative and does not really set his own prerogatives.

"A spiritual Master must be incarnated to fulfil his mission and this condition limits his view, as far as his possibilities are concerned. Hence, he is bound to the world of illusion; He cannot completely escape from it to find his initial vision.

"He acts--that is the important thing--in osmosis with the higher authorities, guiding the Great Beings who come to help humanity. They marked out the history of the world; all forces must be united, for the task is a mammoth one. Humanity will not eternally remain embroiled in this low condition. It must progress. It is in the order of things. This slowness as well as our remarks can seem amazing, but we do not share the time reference prevailing on Earth. Things can move very quickly when the moment has come. Each human being, in his own way, is working toward this change; it is in progress, hearts must prepare for it."

Babuji