Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fourth Revelation

Wednesday, August 6, 2003 - 10:00 a.m.

The great family of Sahaj Marg must remain united as a group. Differences will inevitably arise; the human being is so complicated, even in a way like ours, his nature often comes to the fore. The same problems happen in any group.

"Spirituality must unify and help overcome these disagreements that have no justification. One of the important aspects of the work being carried out in our system is the normalisation of behaviours. This aspect should not be overlooked, and each one must make efforts to contribute to it.

"My son is a shrewd strategist; he is doing his level best concerning these pernicious conflicts prejudicial to the image of the Mission. Bad candidates must be moved aside and should seek treatment if they have behavioural problems; our action does not cover this aspect. Our Mission brings together a great number of aspirants from different backgrounds and cultures; their common objective must bring them closer and unite them in this common process that prevails over everything.

"When faith and love are sufficiently developed in the hearts, they can be united and fervent in their process. It must ease human reactions and motivate the group, enabling it to forge ahead and strengthen its presence in the city. A suitable meeting place is fulfilling for all. May all our brothers make the interest of the group prevail over unfounded differences!"
