Thursday, August 21, 2003 - 10:00 AM

The heart of our aspirants is connected to the heart of their Master who is the custodian of divine energies enabling him to achieve his mission. Thus a long chain is formed which keeps increasing and being strengthened, each link becoming stronger and more motivated.

"Today, our way looks like a newly born spiritual current. It is not known across the entire planet, but it is making progress like others before it, before taking its final shape. It will be part and parcel of a great redeeming movement, providing humanity with necessary elements aimed to significantly facilitate its evolution. The real capabilities of this system are still unknown; its power will be revealed when time comes and minds are ready enough to make the most of it.

"The new era holds many surprises in store in all areas, many of which will not be approved of by men. In this matter, the key word will be: 'adapting'. Hearts having thirst for the Divine will try to find a way of quenching it. Future times will be characterized by a strong attraction for this area. The movement is in the making. Even now, we can notice its impact. The future is promising on this point. It is in line with the tide of history of the world moving towards its liberation. Everything takes place slowly on Earth, according to its own rules. The spiritual awakening does not depart from that rule, but it will reveal the divine power which always achieves its ends."

Babuji