A Fourth Revelation

The scribe is doing her level best, what more can we request? Spare yourself, won't you! It is imperative.

"Refresh yourself by thinking of a garden full of flowers and greenery where you could meditate while listening to the song of the birds – all that which you are cruelly lacking, all things considered.

"Search in you and you will meet this need by letting your heart open on to a protected and unique space that cannot exist elsewhere.

"Draw from within yourself graces that do not exist in sensual pleasures. Always go deeper in yourself to the secret source generating the purest joys... Do you feel appeased, my child? This refuge, is it not the remedy for all evils! Think of the multitude of hearts that do not know it. Could you imagine your life without this dimension that makes it so attractive! Relish the fragrances emanating from the divine heart of all your Masters reunited to serve the noblest cause.

"You have come to us, you are lucky, do not forget it. Could you imagine what a desert your existence would have been without your commitment and your fervour in its related faith?

"Yes, today once again, you find these kinds of comments personal and this puts you ill at ease; you would therefore like to withhold it. Once again, do not withhold it. Many will find themselves in these remarks under similar circumstances, when life weighs much too heavily."
