Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fourth Revelation

Monday, September 15, 2003 - 10:00 a.m.

It was normal that you paused. Your health has to be taken into account.

"My son has returned to his Indian life and what he left behind during the time of his voyage; this presently draws his attention. His sharp mind can see beyond appearances and promptly resolve difficulties that arise. He, also, must look after himself. He gives his all and he must as well rejuvenate himself while on this Earth. The needs of his soul are met; those of his physical body should not be neglected. This vehicle is precious; it enables him to achieve his mission with all the ardour he is expending, in spite of the weight of the years being felt more than he would have wished. He can relax a little, the Mission as a whole is doing well. We have already expressed our satisfaction concerning the impact of his stay in the countries visited.

"Our way conquers hearts. This work progresses slowly, but in a decisive way. Cries and tears are not necessary for the most beautiful victories to be obtained. We impose nothing: the hearts that are called come towards us freely, being aware of belonging to a movement which will keep growing, befitting the spirit of the new era. They have a presentiment of the changes in the offing that are likely to shake up their life and they are preparing to face them, as they have no alternative. This wisdom can only help them. May all our brothers be well convinced of this reality."
