A Fourth Revelation

Serving is the mainstay in your life, my child, for which you give your best. Love is a choice food that provides you abundantly with its substance.

"Such important work cannot be done otherwise. The power of this love, which you give and receive with an impulse that has grown over the years, shows through these messages.

"At this point in the development of these writings, everything has been said, but has this 'everything' been understood and will this be the case when the time has come for our brothers and sisters to discover them!

"Let us continue adding some more remarks. They will highlight issues already tackled, but whose profound meaning would still currently escape the majority of those who would have read them. Humanity is advancing in the discovery of truths relating to it. Many try to understand, to discover what has always been hidden from the multitudes until now, reserved for privileged initiates and inaccessible to common mortals who are not prepared to receive a teaching of this kind. It takes time to liberate minds from old taboos, beliefs concealing the being's reality and hindering man's spiritual development. In its natural growth, the soul drives him to free himself of these limiting barriers and to see what is hidden beyond appearances. Spiritual maturity will reveal his true self to himself; then a truly constructive work, in the fullest sense of the word, will start."
