

Monday, September 29, 2003 - 4:00 PM

Continue on the same luminous road, my dear son; inevitably darkness stands in the way of light. This unforgivable resistance is disgraceful in many respects. It will die away, running out of steam for trying to conquer a kingdom not belonging to it. Do not be afraid. Advance glorious and authoritative in your action. We support you and approve of you in everything. What more can we say, this humanity generates revolting warts. Nothing will destabilize our way; it will continue to advance at all costs under your guidance. That is how it was decided.

"Be at peace, my very dear son. Your heart should be reassured, all is well."

Babuji