The action of a high level spiritual Master expands towards infinity. He actually does not control it any more, as, to a certain extent, it escapes him so much. He is caught in a kind of swirl, raising him into spheres where, at each level, he acts according to the needs. This system is complex, but everything is structured in a very satisfactory way; the divine energy regulating itself. Being connected to the source, he holds constantly expanding powers, in accordance with his own elevation. At this advanced level, he is a multi-faceted being, involved in a process completely beyond his human control. He cannot control everything consciously, but he knows and is aware of the extent of his powers. In him and by him, his guides are acting through a longstanding consummate fusion. It is being strengthened and structured more and more, until the moment when he himself will hand over the torch. Thus divine power is manifested in this world and the entire creation, which is infinite in terms of manifestations.

"God is great; indefinable with human language, limited in the present stage of evolution. It does not matter if man does not know more about God, a big majority of them not being worried at all about the laws governing the planet where they live. The divine cogs are in action; everything is moving slowly, as per the notion of time prevailing on Earth. All happens at the right moment, according to the great plans of the Almighty."
