Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Wednesday, January 7, 2004 – 10:00 a.m.

Cut yourself off from this world, come and join us. We have invited you so many times to leave your daily worries behind you! Today they relate, among other things, to two loved ones whom you don't manage to contact. The human being easily falls for the game of life with its disturbing vibrations, which he does not manage to thwart. Here is where self-control, which we have alluded to earlier, should come into play as it neutralises fears and emotions that unsettle anyone who lacks it.

"It is not easy to control one's physical body and mind. This state is obtained through long training, soul-searching, as well as a lengthy spiritual practice that leads to detachment. Nothing in this area can be obtained easily. Wisdom results from continually renewed efforts and special dispositions that cannot be obtained through willpower alone. Rigorous training is essential. It is akin to the perilous high-mountain climbing, which requires specific qualities. On this point, all our aspirants are on their way, as they have understood where the secret of their future freedom lies. Being aware of this fact is critical; it provides true motivation.

"Man must understand why he has to act in this way. When he knows where he comes from and where he wishes to go, he can more clearly see his path taking shape. We propose to all our brothers a way that can meet their expectations. May they progress with fervour in order to obtain the realisation of all their hopes. We are helping them towards that."
