Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Stay more and more connected to the divine presence in you. Keep this in mind and let it become a leading principle.

"Everything passes, everything ends up being forgotten; the only thing that remains and develops inside you is the divine edifice, which is immutable. It withstands the test of time, and all sorts of disasters; it is unassailable when it is sustained by faith. Rich civilisations disappeared and left no trace. Some are still controversial topics among men. Controversies on these issues do not matter, only the divine power is important. Armies of hearts work for it wherever they may be, and this action is becoming urgent. It will keep growing on the Earth, which is called to its highest destiny. Like a flood that is unprecedented in the history of this world, this action will spread across the world and engulf it.

"Nothing then will be as before. Everything will need to be re-examined. This includes laying the foundations for a civilisation more in keeping with divine reality and its laws which humans should respect, especially those whose feet walk on this Earth. This respect is cruelly lacking in these troubled times when the human being has no point of reference. The human race, overpopulating the Earth, is on the road to ruin for lack of wisdom. Caught in the noisy bustle of overpopulated cities where vice prevails over virtue, how could it flourish harmoniously! Many people manage to blossom by clinging, in spite of everything, to their ideal that includes the beneficial effects of a spiritual process. They manage quite well and we are helping them.

"Our aspirants also distinguish themselves; we follow them in their process, and we encourage their faith and their need to practise. The facilities are not yet sufficient to accommodate them all in a satisfactory condition, but there are people of goodwill who make up for that. Faith and perseverance make our brothers ingenious."
