Don't always doubt your capabilities, write down.

"The celebrations have just ended and my son is already dealing with other projects. His travels will keep intensifying. He has become a Master globe trotter. He has travelling facilities which the great persons of the past did not have. This, together with all the modern means of communication, is a very great asset for the Mission. He can meet the aspirants of spirituality in all the corners of the world. There is such a huge demand which is difficult to satisfy, despite all the facilities we have mentioned. He should delegate much more often. That is not easy, his spiritual dimension is irreplaceable, but he will have to do so in the future.

"The abhyasis will have to understand these reasons and think of him who goes so often beyond his strengths.

"My son is a builder in all the senses of the word. Nothing stops him; we admire him. Yet he too has to struggle with his human weaknesses: doubt, fear of not managing to resolve certain material problems. Do not believe that it's all easy for him. He too has health problems which bother him enormously and yet he faces up [to them].

"We are happy to see him implementing so well what we conceive. He is a true lion!"
