Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Saturday, March 27, 2004 – 10:00 a.m.

A noble soul is moulded in the crucible of sufferings, either visible or hidden from the eyes of men who are generally unmoved by the ordeals of their fellow creatures, as compassion is not very widespread in this world.

"The divine energy operates in hearts according to its own laws, which man cannot grasp easily as his views are limited. He believes he knows, but he does not. Only faith can reassure him. Surrendering to higher powers that guide his life makes him confident, and hence courageous to face trying moments."
