The publication of these messages will unsettle some ill-informed people but that does not matter, they will help our brothers as a whole, and that is what counts. They offer a variety of possibilities in terms of the issues being covered. This contribution will be welcome, since it is in keeping with the line of our core teaching, which, moreover, does not require any addition whatsoever. It is good to stick to what is essential in a spiritual process, and that is imperative.

"It is important to be vigilant on this point, by so avoiding the drifts taking on the form of publications having nothing to do with the goal targeted in our way. My son and his successors will see to it to preserve it in its purity and its original simplicity, as the mental must not be fed here with inappropriate and superfluous literature.

"Our way, as it stands, is rich in a practice revealing its effects only with time, and of a teaching which our brothers who do not devote enough time to it, are far from going into in greater depth. They advance, nevertheless, and it is good to note it. Their thirst for knowledge will appear in due time; the Master works towards this evolution being recorded in the hearts in a soothing way.

"We appreciate the results he keeps obtaining, thanks to his commitment, which is increasingly effective and subtle in its effects. He is the Master in the full meaning of the word, contributing to glorifying our Mission, now and for the centuries to come.

"May hearts, on this particular day, be reinforced in their convictions, determined unremittingly to pursue what they started! Very special blessings to all!"
