Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

What must be will be; this maxim is always valid, don't forget it. For all that relates to our Mission, we particularly make sure that nothing insurmountable comes to stop its development. The various vagaries, specific to life in this world, will not hinder its important aspects.

"These messages are important to us, otherwise why would we give them? They will gain ground in the hearts and will be welcome. Some troublemakers will criticise them; that is inevitable. We already expressed our views on this issue and will not say anything more. What is important is to progress in the preparatory work aimed at their publication. My son, as usual, will do what is necessary.

"Everything is slow on Earth; we cannot contravene the established rules. Life must go at its own pace and follow the grand movement that corresponds to it; to be born and die to this world is in the nature of things. It is better to accept it and go beyond appearances, to seek the real underlying cause. All has its raison d'être: to be incarnate on the Earth is a necessity specific to the evolution of beings. These concepts are not highlighted by great religions, which prefer to distort their meaning.

"Our goal is not to criticise them, but to highlight a reality which can help our brothers in their progress and in the acceptance of their destiny. The truth will appear to all in due time; it is inevitable. Humans cannot continue to stagnate like this by scorning the true values that are ignored too much by most of them.

"An acceleration of this movement is bound to occur, and in the long run, it will establish a new order to serve the good of all."
