Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Saturday, May 22, 2004 – 10:00 a.m.

Don't lose heart, my daughter. You have been struggling for many years and it is in you, in your unfailing faith, that you find the strength to advance. A long life fraught with ordeals led you to this inner state where the beauty of a soul can be displayed and show its worth. Sufferings have moulded and strengthened it. Life on the Earth is a short spell. Therefore, keep finding your motivation in an intense connection with our hearts; they return your love to you. Be blessed and do not lose sight of your objective, my daughter."
