Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Friday, May 28, 2004 – 10:00 a.m.

Do not lose confidence; life still has in store for you good moments appropriate to your capabilities. Your dreams of travelling are not materialising as you might wish; they do take place, but where many of your fellow creatures cannot go. Appreciate the good things you have, my child. Your wisdom allows you to put things into perspective and to some extent, to accept your life as it is. Spiritual openness is a precious asset in this Earthly existence. Poor are those who do not have it. What are their prospects? Which long-term goal motivates them?

"Sahaj Marg imbues hearts like beneficial dew on an arid ground. It flowers particularly in India, where the soil is fertile. Many souls are ready, and in the future they will light the world, which is grappling with the darkness of ignorance.

"These people are predisposed to receiving the light. This land is blessed and it will become very attractive in the future for the rest of humanity. When a real awakening has taken place, all eyes will be turned towards this country. Our way was born there; it is spreading out on this planet according to the will of the higher powers. Future times will sweep away anything that will not be in conformity with the spirit of the divine laws.

"A new race will start to emerge; many beings are endowed with psychic capabilities beyond the current norms. They are trying to find their bearings on this Earth where they differ from the others. All of them are not understood; they are pioneers, and humans do not easily accept what they do not understand. People's minds must open up to this reality. Everything must change according to the divine plans. That is how it goes!"
