Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Who can claim the ability to interpret other people's dreams? Psychoanalysis as a whole has led to a certain number of mistakes in a field currently exceeding its limits. In the future, in light of a thorough understanding of the being, this practice will be relegated to a level that corresponds to a stage in man's understanding when he was entangled in misconceptions. It can nevertheless help today's man who is eager to exteriorise himself in interviews where he is granted attention and a sympathetic ear, which he needs and which can help him. These practices have nothing to do with our way and do not have to interfere; we have repeatedly expressed ourselves on this issue.

"Men are perturbed by many disturbances that are increasing. The phenomenon is worrying for humanity as a whole, all the more so since it is irreversible. We can only deplore these societal problems and come back to what is decisive for a human being: his spiritual progress.

"Here, we are not helpless. Our way meets this necessity, which is considered as such by many of our brothers engaged in our system. Many others will come and join them, impatient to finally find a practice meeting their aspiration.

"In this world that is grappling with so many evils, spiritual commitment represents a considerable force. Having a Master in this life is a true blessing. May all our aspirants be aware of it and strengthen their motivation to practice."
