Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Friday, June 18, 2004 – 10:00 a.m.

Stand back, my child, widen your vision on all things by transcending the difficulties specific to your Earthly journey. Doesn't your spiritual openness clear your way to a more glorious universe? Many humans do not have it and stagnate in the darkness, without a glimpse of any possible solution to their poor life that lacks hope beyond this one.

"Man must constantly adapt to changes happening in and around him, in his private life and his environment, which is not always easy to accept. Wisdom that develops in him helps him to better adapt and put things into perspective. To distance oneself makes it possible to foresee other prospects, more delightful, and to work towards one's spiritual elevation, transforming the present and future life, little by little.

"Satisfaction in doing what one has to do, for others and oneself, is an invaluable asset supporting the development of the being, as far as its deeper nature is concerned. The soul is thirsting for purity and blooming in its endless quest towards the Absolute. The physical body, rooted in matter, should in no way obstruct the expansion of consciousness. All remains to be conquered; faith is an unparalleled power facilitating the work of the Master, in our way, towards the dazzling conquest of spirituality.

"Man, in a way, can decide on his destiny. Does he want to go to what is essential? It's up to him to see.

"Blessings to all."
