Whispers from The Brighter World
A Fifth Revelation

Saturday, June 26, 2004 – 10:00 a.m.

We are preparing our brothers for a critical milestone in their evolution. These messages contribute to it. They are not trivial, and repetitions are intentional, just like their publication within our way. There is no need to anticipate the reactions they may generate among some people.

"Our brothers keep mentioning the new era; many of them devour a literature concerning this advent, whose writings include predictions making reference to specific dates. We do not address this kind of matter, as dates are unforeseeable. The main thing is not there, but rather in the spiritual work which prepares hearts for their future destination, which these short or long-term forecasts cannot do.

"Who can venture such assertions? God is very powerful. Only He knows the great phases of these future upheavals in this world and elsewhere; they are part and parcel of a design going well beyond this planet.

"To satisfy the curiosity of our abhyasis is not our goal; as usual, we focus on the essentials. Only their well-being justifies our action. These messages have their raison d' être, much more than it may seem to the readers who take a simple approach without going deeply into these comments. Time will do its work; may our scribe continue to serve us as much as will be necessary and as long as possible.

"Our blessings are with all for this work, which really has its raison d' être; do not doubt it!"
