Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Sunday, June 27, 2004 – 10:00 a.m.

To take down these messages is no common event. It is normal, my child, to feel the need to be understood and supported. What you are doing cannot be done by all, even if it seems natural for you. Your perceptions, over the years, have been greatly refined through this daily practice whereby you devote your best to us.

"We have already said it: teachings of this kind that have marked humanity were given in this way, i.e. under inspiration. They carry the imprint of a wisdom adjusted to the spirit prevailing at that time. But that wisdom does not fail over centuries, unlike nice theories fabricated on Earth that try to understand the human being and remain derisory as far as the truth is concerned. Man relies on ideas or principles that are often swept away by time.

"Thousands of pages and theses were written on all topics; subjects were invented to cure men which turn out to be inaccurate or ineffective, depending on the case, because they do not correspond to the reality of the being. What builds man's true personality, in the extensions of his physical body, remains ignored by men.

"The new era, as it is called, will eliminate a certain number of misconceptions which are based on systems and major theories whose underlying principles are wrong. Man, to date, is not seen in his reality, and those who get a glimpse of it are not listened to.

"May the truth become obvious to all men of goodwill, capable of completely taking a new look at themselves; this time will come."
