Keep this flame burning within you, my child. It clears your way. Love is the infallible guide channelled by the heart of the Master for whom it is meant; it thus derives all his power from the ceaseless movement of divine life. By belonging to a way like ours one benefits from the effects of this life under the best conditions. At this level, all may seem complex, the wheels are infinitely subtle, but they operate to perfection. Going towards the goal requires steadfastness in efforts and faith.

"A high level spiritual Master is vested with powers benefiting the souls that follow Him in this upward movement towards divinity. Life is vibration. It is defined according to its intensity in the various forms created and this is true for the entire creation. Given this reality, not only the vision of the world changes, but also man does not see himself any more under the same light.

"His physical body is subjected to laws which science has ignored until now. They are defined according to principles not accessible to humanity, in its current cycle. As for the subtle bodies, they are ignored or unknown, since they are beyond the approach which is currently being made by isolated researchers who are lacking the necessary points of reference.

"In one century from now, the current practices will look derisory and in some respects dangerous for the integrity of the being, as far as his extension towards other levels of consciousness is concerned. Man makes gross mistakes. He is searching and will find, according to the evolution of this planet.

"This civilization is destructive; nothing seems to be capable of stopping it in this world. Only the divine laws will be able to remedy it."
