Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Wednesday, July 7, 2004 – 10:00 a.m.

Life pursues its movement; inexorably it completes its cycle governed by the divine laws in their great complexity. Life on Earth is an expression of it and it is not understood in its real sense. The manifestations of life on Earth are very multiple and interfere on other vibratory levels embedded in this ceaseless divine play.

"Man does not have all the elements; no matter what he thinks, his intelligence is limited to human characteristics, which reduces his analysis of the facts. Man of the future will develop higher faculties of perception and comprehension of phenomena. He will have a broader vision of what life is beyond this world, of what exists on other planets, the interferences that exist among those planets and their various forms of life, given that divine energy appears likewise in the whole of creation. Life cycles are very long on Earth, hence the current difficulty for seekers to determine the truth about its history.

"Spiritual life does not change. Divine energy does not undergo any change as it remains true to form, perfect in its essence and its manifestations. To rely on its laws is a wise choice going in the appropriate direction. It is the only favourable way for man, far from the disappointments and ordeals he cannot avoid during his incarnation in this world.

"To follow the way of the Spirit is a successful step in this long initiatory course, where the soul must perfect itself in its essence – full communion with the Divine being the ultimate goal."
