Rise above all your worries; an elsewhere exists. You are well placed to know it, my child. Project yourself towards the future and regain serenity, as you should be doing; this contact will be all the more profitable. Remain connected to your Master, isn't he henceforth at the centre of your thoughts! He is your guide in this world and even beyond. He opens the doors to you and he takes you to my heart in another way. Love, which is being distilled in you, is a powerful asset, a reference card, very important as far as this matter is concerned. Here, those of the world are very far and are not relevant, except for their irreparable effects on the being concerned.

"Prepare yourself for this birthday celebration; it will show to my son once again its growing importance from one year to another in the heart of our brothers and sisters. He is loved and his action bears its fruits, beyond our hopes. May the blessed day of his birth on Earth go down in the history of our Mission as an event to remember. It makes it blaze and lends credibility to it. Be happy to be, once again, in this incarnation, living in the wake of this exceptional being.

"Forget any sadness and, at least on this day, do not dwell on human behaviour. You know how very disappointing they can be. Rise above the miasmas of this world where your heart will be able to relish the immutable peace."
