Let your heart love, isn't it the most beautiful vocation? All is illusory in this world—you know it. Therefore maintain this flame in you, it will not disappoint you, and it will guide you until the end. Many of our brothers and sisters intellectualize their spiritual process, not having understood yet that love is the key to their growth. A rigorous work leaving aside this concept, which they consider as superfluous, deprives them of joys, which they cannot even suspect.

"These magic banks are unknown to them, and they remain confined in certitudes fitting them, without seeking to exceed them. Sooner or later, they will have to awaken to this reality; love is the master card in the divine play. May this burning arrow hit them right in the heart, where lies the seat of an immense and sublime undertaking not registered in the human laws, and meaning nothing important in this world.

"If only our aspirants knew what they were losing by ignoring this aspect of the sadhana! We cannot rush anything; we only let time do its work and open this sacred door to them, leaving them struck dumb with gratitude. Diversity exists within our way, it is in the nature of things, but all our brothers are going in the same direction; that is the main thing.

"In our Mission, anniversaries serve to focus the thoughts of all onto their Master in a more intense way than usual, and to increase this energy of love, specific to its cosmic identity. May all our brothers be blessed and become increasingly vigilant to develop in themselves love, this ultimate vibration."
