May all our brothers and sisters benefit from the manna granted to our Mission as a whole during these days of the birth anniversary; a commemoration that will be perpetuated over time while leaving deep marks thereon. All fundamental things being done in a serious spiritual way blessed by supreme authorities are recorded in the big book of life, and endure beyond centuries.

"All may let themselves go in the joy of this celebration; it has a special feature that cannot be defined here. The divine laws apply in secrecy; receptive hearts can benefit from them fully—disinterested love remains a necessary aptitude adding to this natural inclination. This day is characterized by a special importance very well perceived by all of our aspirants. They are involved, in their respective ways, by being connected to the source of all good and of the only priceless and durable joys: those of the heart and the Spirit. Their Master having reached a very high level of elevation, they cannot hope for anything in this world, where the work of a higher being of this stature prepares them for a higher destiny.

"May all of them benefit well from this special energy, which we insist on; tomorrow will be another day. A few hours of meditation will generate a real profit; we will not insist any more. This year in particular, we stressed the importance of this day; it is advisable to leave it at that.

"May all be blessed and strengthened in their determination to progress."
