Thursday, May 20, 1999 - 8:00 a.m.

What else can we tell you, to help you? Hope must always be kept alive in spite of everything. God has unsuspected resources. My daughter, we do not love to see you like that. Remain trustful in us, even if appearances do not compel you into that. We may seem hard; you know well that such is not the case. When a sky is most gloomy, it cannot remain like that; the sun will inevitably shine again. Do not lose heart; we can only carry you spiritually through this bad patch. You also, you have resources; don't give up.

Babuji