The same goes for inspiring music as for nice texts capable of uplifting a soul towards divinity, depending on one's inner condition. Yours, at this moment, is particularly sensitive. This listening is a prelude to our contact, leading your heart to it in the best condition. It is good for it to rise towards other spaces where it can perceive with full receptiveness. Be happy to have this refuge and not to neglect it as many human beings do, preferring to devote to base pleasures. Cultivate in yourself this beauty, it is unequalled, you know it.

"Let yourself be completely conquered and, once again, do not fear to write all this; each one of our brothers can go through this experience. You never listened to this concerto with so much happiness, your heart having offered it in prelude to this contact, we adhere to it, as this dedication makes it all the more precious. This contact is therefore special, since its introduction was made of musical notes.

"Isn't all that can uplift the soul towards nobler regions nice? Each one according to one's tastes can find the key leading to a complete receptiveness. To begin a meditation with a delighted soul predisposes to the best results. On this day, we will remain in this field, light, ethereal and subtle, surrender to the Divine fostering a better work. Considering sadhana in a good state of mind prepares psychic centres for complete receptiveness. Each one holds the secret, the right key opening his door towards eternity; may they enjoy it fully."
