Friday, October 15, 2004 - 10:00 AM

To my son,

"Humility is the signature of the greats, my dear son. It characterizes you in the many expressions of your personality. Don't be doubtful; where you excel, you play your role wonderfully and we appreciate the constant efforts you have to make to lead our growing Mission.

"He, whom you call 'your Beloved,' follows you step by step and he inspires you when necessary. When you have rejoined us, the heart of the angels will be delighted, underlining in its own way the joy of all of us. May you feel it as of now in your heart and strengthen yourself in view of the rest of this divine contract.

"Our Mission will keep extending, and you know it. It will find its marks and our brothers, in this context, will have to level the difficulties caused by differences of opinion; that is inevitable. Human nature is like that; the essentials, i.e., the depth of the spiritual process, must unite them beyond their differences. Human conflicts are specific to the tendencies of each one. They cannot be erased straightaway, hence the need for a permanent cleaning activity.

"At this stage of evolution on Earth, the real characteristics of each one are yet to be expressed, because they are being expunged little by little. Our way is acting in that direction; you, the big manager of this human undertaking, you are working towards that, my very dear son. You have already gone a long way. Your action extends beyond the Earthly time framework. It is marking out a luminous way and its influence will keep growing under your high competence.

"We surround you in your heavy task and support you. We encourage you to preserve the initial authenticity of it, which is self-contained: this aspect is critical. Our love carries you, never doubt it and our blessings on you come flooding in from all over as a sign of actual praise."

Babuji Maharaj