Beyond their textual content, these writings carry an energy undetectable humanly. Some of our brothers will feel it. Be that as it may, this reading will benefit them all. How can one go further into the mystery of life on this Earth! It would be necessary to put forward concepts, which could not be currently understood. It is better to stick to what is known and to let our aspirants pursue their spiritual search. An unremitting work will open the doors of knowledge quite naturally to them; the new era will facilitate their access to it.

"We have already said it: our teaching will not be static, it will adapt to the evolution of the beings. We possess the relevant means. Everything in its own time—all is programmed according to the stages to get through in this field.

"Our way was born at the cusp of two civilizations that differ on many points. Our brothers of the future will be able to adapt to phenomena unthinkable currently, which will be then admitted and will belong to their life in all its manifestations. The doors of this future world will not be crossed easily. There will be a price to be paid; nothing here below is obtained without efforts. Our teaching, then, will be truly understood. The perceptions of beings will have developed, which will allow a more realistic approach to it.

"Each person's work helps to build this future; its impact will keep growing and working in that direction with the assistance of higher powers.

"Blessings to all,"
