

Sunday, October 24, 2004 - 10:00 AM

Courage is an act of faith in life, in God, for them who believe in their present and future destiny. Faith animates valiant hearts that understand their true dimension going well beyond this world. These human qualities are precious gifts preserving the essence of a being. My child, take stock of your Earthly existence; didn't what we have just alluded to constitute the positive web of it? Think of what it would have been without these two major assets.

"You can be thankful and continue to cultivate within yourself these gifts that are giving your life its true direction. Keep improving this wealth; it still holds for you benefits of which you will assess the extent only after having left this world. Then, your true personality will be revealed to you and you will be able to judge what did or did not serve it throughout your process. The law is like that: every thing is exposed for all to see. Nothing is ever left aside. Each one must face up to what one really is.

"As the guideline of an incarnation is love and the respect of life, it attracts opportunities favourable to the elevation of a soul. Looking for a spiritual way capable of satisfying it on this point shows the determination of man to extricate himself from matter, with a view of finding a more subtle food that he feels the need for.

"Thus is the progress of souls towards their higher destiny."

Babuji