

Tuesday, October 26, 2004 - 10:00 AM

It is not easy to currently make the majority of individuals admit facts not proven scientifically. Nevertheless, many are opening up to knowledge by building on some theories not officially recognized. All is slow on Earth; its status will have to change completely so that reality can prevail. Alluding to some facts, and reverting on a regular basis to man's possibility to open up to that reality, fosters awareness, hence the need for our many repetitions. Thus he makes progress and wakes up. Feeling that he is 'inhabited' without being able to define what he feels, he will seek to understand by going further into such or such teaching.

"To find his way will be for him the best means of advancing in this quest liberating him from the darkness of ignorance. The way is long; nothing can be obtained easily and without perseverance, without abnegation shall we say. These essential features can have a deterrent effect on a human being who wants to enjoy his life to the maximum, according to his own criteria; that is within his right. Nobody can contest his right. He is, in his own presence, responsible for this life where an opportunity is offered to him to be fulfilled spiritually.

"What will he use it for? The onus is on him; each one has in oneself a capital, a secret power that only seeks to open out in a favourable climate. Will it succeed? One day, here or elsewhere, everything will be accomplished as foreseen; it is a question of time. A new cycle is in the offing and, sooner or later, it will concern everyone."

Babuji