Whispers from The Brighter World

A Fifth Revelation

Saturday, January 8, 2005 – 10:00 a.m.

How would your life be without its spiritual dimension? Nothing lasts forever, except what is essential; a well-tempered soul will make no mistake about that. Keep enlarging the dimension of that life in you; there lies the only worthwhile treasure.

"Man bustles about. He often rushes towards illusory goals, motivated by interests that are well beyond what is necessary for some people.

"They seek to fill the empty spaces, to give themselves feelings of superiority and power. It is not easy for a human being to overcome his tendencies; they can easily emerge, even amid fine feelings. The way is long and more arid as he progresses, but it is blessed by divine powers. Choices are to be made, and in our domain each one has to face himself, as well as face the depth of his commitment."
